

Hummingbird Humanity believes that putting people first is essential to the success of any business. We partner with organizations to foster human-centered, highly engaging workplace cultures where representation matters, diverse voices are celebrated and everyone feels valued.

The graphic features a dark background with a cityscape at night. At the top, the title "Hope, Heart, and the Human Spirit" is written in white. Below the title, two portraits are shown side-by-side. The left portrait is of Brian McComak, with the text "Hosted by" above it. The right portrait is of Katie Oertli Mooney, with the text "Special Guest" above it. Below each portrait is their name and title. At the bottom, the Hummingbird Humanity logo is displayed in white and teal.

Hummingbird Humanity

In each newsletter, we are highlighting one of our guests from this summer's "Hope, Heart, and the Human Spirit" series. Today, we're highlighting Katie Oertli Mooney, the Senior Director of Global Membership Advisory Services at Diversity Best Practices, an organization that focuses on Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion advisory for mid to large-sized companies. This episode will cover concepts including debunking the Asian model minority myth and will answer questions such as "I want to start or refresh my company's DEI strategy, where do I start?"

College Code

Hummingbird Friend and community member Chelsea C. Williams is the Founder & CEO of College Code, an organization dedicated to the job-readiness training & retention of diverse students. College Code enacts its mission through coaching Gen-Z persons, along with coaching partnering companies that wish to foster this talent. A few of these partnering companies include the University of Chicago, Girls Who Code, Big Brothers Big Sisters of NYC, and the National Association of Colleges and Employers. Such efforts reimagine the pipeline of diverse humans entering the workplace.
